Take a look around! The freshmen are here!! The class of '88 took a gigantic leap in numbers. The adminstration was totally dumbfounded by the increase. There were close to a hundred more freshmen enrolled this year as opposed to last. When questioned, Brian Morton, Head Counselor, said, "Out of 125 new students, 80 of them are freshmen."

With such a large increase in students, a more efficient roll taking method was needed. To keep track of the new students, the school district purchased an attendance machine. It was meant to cut down on the number of student help needed in the office and the amount of time used to take roll. Ideally, when a student missed class, the computer noted the culprit's name so that when he or she missed another class, it began to call the parents immediately.

What else was new at MHS? No need to worry, we didn't join the ranks of the closed campus. The gates on Pacific St. were erected to put an end to the after school and weekend beer parties.

With the rise in enrollment, a way to cut down on litter, graffiti, and traffic in the English Hall was sought. Just about everyone, (well, at least the girls) was surprised to find the girl's restroom in the Social Studies Hall. In turn, the Women's Faculty restroom was moved to the English Hall. This relocation helped cut down the noise and confusion in the already packed hallway. 1985 was definitely a year for change.

Class of 1985

"Freshmen, dream on!" The class of '85 is where it's at. The 1984-1985 school year was definitely the year of the Senior. Faced with many new changes and challenges, the class of '85 paved the way to new beginnings. The new policies, academic expectations, longer school days, and shorter breaks never discouraged this tough bunch. The only thing that could effect them was an uncontrollable case of "Senioritis." The first case hit toward the end of summer. On the first day of school, students were greeted with green and gold benches that clearly stated "Seniors", and "The class of '85". Even the bushes in the mall expressed their favoritism toward the Senior class with the numbers 1985 on each one. Why all the fuss about being a senior? Only a senior can answer that question. Pat Schrady summed it up by saying, "Well, without Heidi, it wouldn't have been much of a fuss."

Not every senior class is the same though. Counselor Bill Martin expressed, "This is an individualistic group. A lot of free spirits. The students are thinking more toward a four year college instead of getting a job right after high school. This class should go far."

Because of the individualism in the class of 1985, they decided to make a big change. They got together and raised two thousand dollars to have their yearbook portraits in color and they got the chance to use their right to freedom of speech in the Senior Personality section.

The class of 1985 has definitely played a tremendous part in Monterey High's history, especially because of their ever so creative pranks which included National Read-a-thon week, and Beach Day at MHS. The seniors added much character to Monterey High in 1985. Then there were more serious times for seniors, like SAT's, college prep courses, and for all seniors, passing English and Civics. What was the reward for all this hard work and dedication? GRADUATION!

New in '85

What came at us in 1985? New buildings, new classes, new technology, higher prices, more students, and definitely more homework.

The long awaited opening of the Sheraton Hotel, Monterey's new luxury lodge with its eight glamorous stories attracted many tourists.

Also opening its doors was the Monterey Bay Aquarium at Monterey's historic Cannery Row. Many MHS students took interest in the Aquarium as an Oceanography class taught by Mike Weesner and John Whisler. The class met at the Aquarium twice weekly to do in-depth research. "I am very excited about the class," stated Mike Weesner. He and John Whisler worked hard to make the class fun and innovative.

Increased computer use also came at us in 1985. Teachers handed out computer printed tests and worksheets as well as having students write reports and essays on computers.

As for prices, a public phone call went up to 20¢ a call, as did the price of a school lunch.

Along with prices, campus population also went up. Total enrollment was about 1600 students. There wasn't even enough room for all teachers to teach the oversized classes. To compensate, the Career Center was moved to the upstairs portion of the library, but many teachers still had to move from classroom to classroom every period.

For the first month of school, Ernest Mecuri was the teacher who held the record for the most moves. With a total of five, it was a wonder he didn't cut!

Student Life Soars

Rallies, dances, sports, noontime, breaks. These are all a part of the Student Life on Campus at Monterey High. More involvement in Monterey's activities added excitement and pizzaz to the 84-85 school year. Enthusiasm at the rallies and team spirit at games brought more unity to students, parents and teachers alike. Senior Lynda Tan said, "Even the freshmen are getting involved. I've seen more students involved this year than I have the whole two years I've been here." Each class has tried to make this the best year ever.

Luckily, Student Life included more than school activities. After school jobs, household chores, and weekend parties are other ways students fill their time. It seemed each year more and more students were getting jobs to help the high cost of living. A lot of students were feeling the pinch. As for weekends, the beach was the scene for sunny days with parties and cruising for the lively nights. These activities played a big part during high school years. Making them memorable was what was fun.

1. Mark DeWeese flees the perplexing reality of the calculus room.
2. Matt Schrady, Heather Wilson and Melissa Blake in Oceanography. Matt, what's with the cliffs?
3. Yo Sup Kim anguishes over the final play of defeat against King City.

Lunchtime- Fast and Furious

What happens at 12:02? At Monterey High you could expect to find sheer chaos. With most students heading straight to lunch, there were long lunch lines or traffic from those who went off campus. Wendy's and the Bagal Bakery were big favorites even though time pressed. But there were other alternatives like eating at home, or just brown-bagging to save ten minutes of waiting in line somewhere.

Most students felt lunch flew by too quickly to do any of these things. In 43 short minutes, we were sitting in the classroom again. Sophomore Joel Hatton felt, "They shouldn't have changed lunchtime to 43 minutes. There's no time to relax." Senior Patti Dingle said, "I can't go out to lunch and expect to get back in time for my next class because my car doesn't go that fast!" Well kids, it looks like the 43 minute lunch break is here to stay.

"Let's get a little bit rowdy, R-O-W-D-Y!" That's what every MHS student was saying. Attendance at the rallies and all the games was up, as were everyone's spirits. Green and gold blanketed the whole school. Every class, including the freshmen, got into the spirit. Why was the Toreadore's pride so high? Trevor Winston was definitely a factor. The first Junior Rally Commissioner. Trevor was thought to be one of the most spirited ever to attend Monterey High. "I think Trevor has a lot of guts to show so much spirit for us. Most people would rather just watch, but Trevor gets everyone going." says JV halfback Tony Effinger.

Enthusiasm was seen everywhere, not only because of Trevor, but because of the great class competitions. The freshman class surprised us by showing what they were made of, as did the sophomore class. But the real competition was between the Juniors and Seniors.

How Do You Get to School?

It seemed that the more people there were who went to school, the more people there were who wanted to be independent of public transportation. Some worked their tails off to buy cars and make the insurance payments that come with them. "I give my mom $200.00 a month for my car and insurance payments," said senior Ron Triplett. Ron got this money by working hard in a restaurant at the Navel Post Graduate School.

Cars weren't the only way to get to school. The next most popular choice was a bicycle. Aaron Schwartz said, "I put about $100.00 into fixing up my bike so I could ride to school." Almost anyway you try, independent transportation to school was expensive. Some kept it simple and walked to school. Some however, went to more drastic measures . . .

Fads in '85

Neons! Brights! Extremely bold colors! Tennis ball green and the hottest pink ever. Flash earrings bigger than before and cropped stonewashed jeans, blue black, or green. Pedal pushers, bermuda shorts, and polo shirts stuck around for another year of success. As for fancy fashion footwear, flats and high pumps were colorful, bright and even printed. Socks and shoe combinations became a pretty hot item in 85. Argyles with penny loafers, bobby socks with pink tennis shoes, or winter wool socks with rubber rain boots were sure to be found regularly. As always, fashion seemed to be walking hand in hand with this year's fads. For example, the Ghostbuster craze lead to a multitude of Ghostbuster sweatshirts, T-shirts, and even buttons. Other fads both short and long lived included: cowboys, Prince along with his purple image, and the ever so popular label craze. Guess jeans, 501's, and Esprit were some of the most popular. To wrap up the 1984-1985 school year we can conclude it with this statement: "It was different, but it was fun!"

Fitness Frenzy

Stretch those thighs! Staying trim and getting fit can be quite a task for some, but for others it's more of a hobby. Getting in shape has become almost an epidemic. New methods like Nautilus machines, aerobics, and stretch/flex classes greatly contributed to the fitness frenzy. Why all the concern about being fit? Senior Vera Schwirzke said, "Because cellulite is gross and you don't need it, so why have it?"

Aerobics, the most popular of the three, is more of a stamina type exercise which helps to develop the heart and lungs. The most popular aerobic technique is dancing. Done to music, Aerobic dancing was popular among MHS students.

What is a Nautilus workout? No, its not lifting seashells. It is a program designed to give "gain with no pain." There is a set of twelve machines that help tone and enlarge the muscles in the body.

Stretch/flex classes are meant to prepare the body for a more strenuous workout in the future. Stretch/flex also teaches how to breath correctly during exercise.

How do you stay in shape? Senior Victor Cole said, "I play a lot of sports and I workout with weights, but there are a lot of other equally important factors, like a balanced diet. Good eating habits and even good sleeping habits contribute to good health."

Another form of staying fit is the dreaded diet. "I don't get to eat all the sweet stuff that I usually do. It makes me feel really fat and hungry when I know it's time to go on a diet. But if I really succeed and lose weight I feel good about myself." said senior Crystal Calderon. No one looks forward to dieting, but its rewards can be more than worth it.

Some teenagers and young women have eating problems which can lead to death. The main culprit is excessive dieting and then overeating. There are certain trigger foods like chocolate or starchy foods that led to binging. After overeating, the victim of the disease Bulimia, will vomit the food because of guilt for eating so much. Stress, self-consciousness, and the social pressure of being thin are often the cause of the problem. Exercise, dieting, and keeping fit can all be an advantage if done properly.

Musical Tastes and Wild Wheels

We are gathered here today to tell you about cars and music at M.H.S. Many people this year were excited about having a car to drive. When questioned, most people preferred the thrill of small sports cars to the smooth ride of large luxurious ones. Other types of cars were four wheel drives and some economy cars.

Junior Raymond Franks said, "The car I most admire is the Lamberghini." Most cars that belonged to high school students had a good stereo: to them it was a must!! Junior Kathy Leave said, "Tom Artellan has one of the baddest' stereos around."

The music that made us jump this year was varied. The groups that incited passionate response were Prince, Duran Duran, Van Halen, Billy Idol, and Bruce Springsteen. To a student it's nothing to finger the dial for a new sound. Musical tastes became visible on campus: Spiked wristbands, Scorpions T-shirts, and faded Levis distinguished "Heavy Metal" lovers from soul or rock fans.

Purple Rain socks made clear the preference of Prince groupies, and bleached hair proved the loyalty of new wave fanatics. "Soul is music that makes me want to dance," said Sophomore Paul Apilado. Which group or singer was the hottest this year? It's up to you to decide.

Looking Ahead

Each school year, college bound seniors are faced with the worry of scoring well on the SAT, which is essential for admission to the college of their choice. Sophomores and Juniors also prepared for this important time in their lives by taking the PSAT which was a preliminary step to the real thing.

M.H.S. had a lot to do with preparing students for the test. C.P. English teachers worked with students to increase their vocabulary skills. They also took some of their classes to the computer room where they were introduced to Owlcat.

Making its debut at M.H.S., Owlcat was a computer program that helped students in all areas of the SAT. It was supervised by Mrs. Gerry Montgomery. Students and teachers alike had many positive things to say about the program. "I found that taking the test was much easier after being involved with the Owlcat program," declared Junior, Nina Moskowitz. C.P. English teacher, Noreen Rial, pointed out that, "Owlcat was a big asset in preparing students for the SAT."

The entire graduating class, however, does not go on to college. In recent years, 60% of the senior class went to MPC, 20% went to a four year college, and the other 20% went their own separate ways.

As Dan Myers added, "M.H.S. academic students are prepared. They go to college, do well, graduate, go on to graduate school. They become doctors, lawyers, CPAs, teachers—they are successful."

Let's Go Crazy!

"Let's go crazy!" was sung by Prince and it spoke for all of us this year. Going crazy was what everybody was doing. We went crazy at parties, dances, movies, and concerts. There was plenty to do. We had the Morp at the beginning of the year, which was a combination of a dance and a party. For all of the people who never figured it out, Morp was "prom" spelled backwards.

There were plenty of parties and dances going on in Seaside and Marina. The Civic Center and the Multi-Use Center had a dance almost every Friday night. Back on the other side of the bay the Music Center was rocking too. When asked how she felt about parties, Nichole Law, a freshman said, "Parties are a way of getting out." Micheal Brown, a sophomore said, "Parties let you get together with friends if you haven't seen them in a while."

If parties and dances didn't excite you. There were movies like Prince's "Purple Rain" which tickled the fancy of most people. Popular movie plots ranged from those with furry deadly creatures to those with wars and violence.

If movies still weren't quiet and remote enough for you, there were the beaches of the peninsula. They were perfect for group gatherings or romantic outings for two watching the famour Monterey sunset cross the sky . . .

How Involved Did You Get?

Time: 8:45. Announcement - Student Bulletin: Close-up meeting today at 12:10 - room 90, German Club meeting today in room 76 at 12:15. Organizations came at us with variety every day. Getting involved was the name of the game! During break, after school, during lunch, and even on weekends, organizations took up time. The outcome was worth the effort. From the Spanish Club, to the Chess Club, from the Ski Club to Cheerleading, here at Monterey High School there was an organization for everyone.

"Getting involved; experiencing and getting the experience of being in an organization, the meeting of new people, and getting acquainted with the public were some of the reasons I personally have tried to get involved," was Ron Murrays' reply when asked, "What were your feelings towards organizations as a whole?" When Wendy Corn was asked, "Why do you think organizations are important to have on campus?" she replied, "I think they are informative to the student body, and give the students a chance to encounter new experiences."

Totally Awesome

"Too hot to handle!" cheered the Monterey High School varsity spiritleaders as they encouraged the football and basketball teams. These words could be used to describe the cheerleaders themselves, a squad of seven people who put in much hard work and dedication.

Along with the Junior Varsity and Song squads, Varsity spiritleaders attended a NCA (National Cheerleaders Association) camp in Stanford. At this camp all their work really paid off. During evaluations, a part of the day where the NCA staff judge each squad on their own personal merit, the M.H.S. Varsity received three first place and one second place ribbon. They also won a spirit stick, an award given to the most spirited squad at camp. The highest honor of all was being nominated for the award of excellence for which nominees must be perfect, or near perfect in technical skills.

One reason for the success at camp was the fact that they had all been to camp before. "I feel that NCA camps helped our squads by teaching us many new cheers and techniques. It helped our squads communicate better. Our squads wouldn't have been the same without it," was the comment from Cynthia Avila. Hard work and dedication was also the key to their great halftime cheers. Along with long practices was fun and good times. "It's been a great experience being a cheerleader for Monterey High School and being head of Varsity made it totally Awesome!" Nancy Ferrara replied. Remember: "Too hot too handle, Watchout!"

These two words were his defense against the cheerleader's non-stop talking. John Hoffman has been the advisor for many years. "I have always been proud to introduce myself as the advisor to the spirit squads at Monterey High School" John Hoffman commented. When Mr. Hoffman isn't around, the responsibility goes to the head of squads Maria Tringali. "All of the hard work and dedication that goes into cheerleading is worth it," Maria said of her job, "The job of head of squads entails many responsibilities."

Maria wasn't the only one with responsibilities. Every member of the squad had them. Not only did they have to cheer for football and basketball seasons, but they had to be at banquets, meetings and other school events. For a new member of the cheerleading family, it could get quite confusing. "My first year of cheerleading was great! It's great experience and you have the opportunity to meet a lot of new people," was the opinion of songleader Jana Aldrete.

Confusion was definitely the word for the Junior Varsity squad at the beginning of the year, but with the head of J.V., Julie Tarantino, and the dedication from every member of this group they pulled things together. So, John Hoffman, BREATHE!!!

Twirlers . . . Move it!

"Cut, cut . . . Guys, try it again!" Mr. Robert Stange shouted to his young under studies. The band demonstrated they were the best Monterey High has seen in a long time. Along with the usual performances at games and activities, the band also competed in the Santa Cruz Parade Competitions.

Playing with some of the bigger names in bands, Monterey came in third for the flag and banner section, and in first for Solo Major. Senior Jimmy Battle said, "This year's band really improved from last year's, in all aspects."

While playing at the Monterey Bay Aquarium opening parade, the band proved to be fast thinking. During their performance, a float broke down in front of them, causing a small buildup of young twirlers and slippery seals. Lori Rowe, the band's Drum Major, after carefully surveying the situation, led the band past the confusion, marching them in a single file line. The fast thinking and performance of the band didn't go unnoticed, as they were generously rewarded with applause. Junior Clinton Hubler stated, "We really worked hard this year to make the band what it was. It really paid off when we received awards at the competitions." From what we've seen, and heard, this band certainly raised school spirit, and provided something for our feet to tap to.

"I like getting rad on the slopes," said Michelle Cutino, a ski club member. The fifty five club members had the time of their lives getting "totally rad" on the slopes of Squaw Valley. Dan Waiswilos, an extremely enthusiastic adviser commented, "Ski Club is fantastic because it enables all kids from different walks of life to get involved."

Galleon Sails Into School.

What is eight pages long, full of current articles, and comes out every other Friday? No, it's not a deficiency notice or detentsion slip sent home to your parents, it's your school newspaper, the Galleon!

Practically everyone has seen at least one issue of the Galleon, and chances are you've noticed a big improvement. Students this year were more academically oriented. The seriousness of these students showed in every story written. If it wasn't perfect, it wasn't printed.

John Hoffman, ("Hoff" to many) has been Captain of the Galleon for thirteen years. Mr. Hoffman felt that the grammatical structure and quality were up this year. "The idea was to balance out the "jocks", the college prep, and the social types, taking the class, so there would be a cross section representing everyone around school. Also this year, we're using computers to set the type, and for the first time, we have a female photographer, Rachael Adams, who does just beautiful work."

Katy Egerton, a junior, reported "I took Galleon because I love to write, but I wasn't sure how heavy the writing load in C.P. English would be. Now it's just perfect."

This year, the Galleon had three editors, Kandace Buckeldee, Therese Ahearn, and Mary Miller, all third year Galleonites.

Mary Miller, in a rush to meet a 2:45 deadline said, "Being editor is a lot of tough work-we can't rest until the last page is done. We're trying to set an example for the underclassmen. I thought with Kandi and Therese, it would be a little easier, but there's enough pressure to go around."

No Time Deadline

Laughter. Creativity. Parties. Satisfaction. Enthusiasm. Challenges. Stress. Panic. Hurry. Photographs? Copy. Blank pages! NO TIME. Deadline. Confusion.

What class has fifteen responsible and dedicated students willing to spend weekends on projects? The yearbook class of course. The first sixteen pages were done without the guidance of an adviser. When the adviser, Diane Swirsky, did arrive, she had had no previous training or experience in putting together a yearbook. Most of the yearbook staff were new to the class also, and as Ms. Swirsky learned, so did the rest of the group.

"Carrying the responsibility as the yearbook editor took a lot of time and a lot out of me, but it was always worth it. The rest of the group were really great people and I look at them as family. I learned a lot," said Evie Hamacher.

Students were able to make many decisions that made this yearbook different. One of these was to have senior portraits done in color.

"This is something new to the yearbook that will make it unique," said enthusiastic co-editor Donna Faro.

Jennifer Takarabe, a junior, commented in a rush to make a deadline, "I didn't realize that the class would be so much work."

It had approximately fifteen regular players who may compete against each other everyday. The club obtained its boards and pieces from the players bringing their own or they were donated. Junior Sal Alkire said "It's a great way to kill an hour." All of the members enjoyed the challenge of a good game. "It's a good hobby, it stimulates the mind," Club President, Junior Bob Favorite said.

Ready, Aim, Fire! The rifle club this school year consists of four members: Junior John Bisson, Junior Andy Brodehl, Senior Don Correl, and Sophomore Mark Gouch. The club is designed to teach a person how to use a gun properly. It also teaches gun safety and how to shoot straight. When questioned, Al Sasules, club coach said, "The club is designed for performance and excellence in marksmanship." The club meets every Wednesday year round at 6:00 at the Monterey Police Department. To join you must go through a four hour training program. After you are familiarized with guns then you can shoot.

Near and Far

As far as some people know, CSF, NHS, and AFS could be diseases or new cars. Actually, they fit under the categories of Clubs and Organizations. CSF-California Scholastic Federation, NHS-National Honor Society, and AFS-American Field Service, are all very honorable organizations to belong to.

CSF, an academic club, requires a total of ten points a semester (A=3, B=1, C=0, D or F= an automatic disqualification). Of these classes, two must be approved by the UC list of studies, with PE and TA classes not counting for credit. The first semester there were over eighty eligible Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores with more Freshmen on the way. To become a lifetime member of CSF, a student must meet the basic requirements of six out of eight semesters in CSF, one of which must be in his or her Senior year. CSF President Ray Hu hoped to accomplish a lot this year, "We hope to visit colleges and universities as in the past. We would like to visit a private college, a state university, and one or two of the UC campuses." Mr. Wayne Cruzan, the advisor, said, "This group is just great!"

Being a member of the National Honor Society was also a "great" as well as a very prestigious honor. NHS is a national organization that includes an elite group of Seniors from all over the U.S. To be a member, students with at least a 3.6 overall grade point average are selected by the teachers at MHS. Students in the National Honor Society are being recognized for their academic achievements and leadership ability.

Other students being recognized are those from AFS, another club here on campus. They may not be recognized academically, but these students are recognized for their distinctive accents. Senior Shauna Hearity is an AFS student from Melbourne, Australia. When asked if the U.S. is what she expected, she replied in her native Aussie voice, "Quite a bit of the U.S. is what I expected, but the high school is very different. I love it here." Shauna was joined here by Carlos Arcila from Colombia. Ms. Taylor, the advisor, said, "This year we have two students (Shauna and Carlos) on the AFS program, and three others associated with different programs. Right now Northern Europe and Australia are represented." Students can apply for a three month exchange program, or a whole year. AFS advises students to stay a whole year, because after living on the Riviera for three months, who would want to come home?

CSF, NHS, AFS are all great organizations for anyone interested in broadening his or her horizons.

1. CSF Secretary, Julie Park, rewrites notes taken from the last meeting.
2. Why is Luisa Kelly so happy? Did she get an A in Calculus?
3. Do all people from Belgium and Germany act like Denis Bribosia and Alex Buchal?
4. In case you've never understood them, their names are Carlos Arcila and Shauna Hearity.

Which Language Do You Speak?

What language did you take this year? Francais, Espanol, Deutch, or Italiano? The French club was advised by Mademoiselle Scholis, Senor Gonzales advised the Spanish club and advisor for the German club was Fraulein Daly. The newest club on the campus was the Italian club which was advised by Senor Davis.

When asked why she joined the French club, Roxanne Hiller said, "I joined to learn a different language and 'cause my mom made me!" The French club had dinner in a French resturant in Carmel and a crepe party.

Que pasa? The Spanish club aimed at their goals of learning more about the Spanish culture. New members sparked life into the club as membership rose from last year. Fundraisers included bake sales, car washes, selling mistletoe for Christmas, and carnations for Valentine's Day. The money raised went towards luncheons and attending a Spanish dance concert in Carmel.

The Italian club had a bake sale for Italian goodies. A float for the Santa Rosalia Festival and a trip to the American Museum were activities. The membership of the Italian club was small, with only seven students.

"We started late this year. I guess that's the reason for our small membership," said Ms. Daly. The German club started off with six members. They kept the jolly German spirit through, by selling pretzels and advent calendars. They also sold buttons they designed themselves. Some members attended the Spring Weekend Camp.

Drama

Peer Educators

Teacher or Entertainer

Abstinence? Probably the least known word in a teenagers vocabulary and probably the least considered choice. Abstinence meaning not having sex, is one of the alternatives which the Peer Educators offers young people about sexuality. But there are others and the purpose of the Peer Educators is to show MHS students that they do have a choice of birth control methods. Along with that, there is responsibility too. Unplanned teenage pregnancy can bring shattering results to parents and teens alike.

It is thought that this group does not know what they're talking about. Not true. Peer Educators go through an extensive 30 hour training period at Planned Parenthood of Monterey in which they are taught about teenage sexuality and responsibility. You can say this group uses "peer pressure" to better inform students.

"In our society, there are T.V. shows, ads, and other influential material that promotes sexuality. Today's teenagers need good reliable information to make the right decisions. Because of unplanned pregancy and sexually transmitted diseases, students need education in order to be responsible." said Peer Educator advisor and school nurse Jean Curtis. She has taken on quite a job with the Peer Education program. She also felt that not being sexually active helps young people to develop other skills such as caring, understanding, communication, and friendship. The awareness of the body and how it works is also very important.

The Peer Education Program is a five day presentation given to freshmen students in their World History classes. The student teachers teach on the same level as the students which makes it a fun learning experience. All the Peer Educators need parent permission to participate in the club and at the end of the 30 hour training session, the Peer Educators give a practice presentation to their parents.

While the Peer Educators are teaching about real life situations, the Drama Club is acting them out. The flamboyant and enthuastic Drama Club was bigger and better than ever. With a new advisor, Tom Dilbeck, the motivated group had many good ideas. "Mr. Dilbeck is really open towards us. He's more like a friend than a teacher. Since teaching drama at Colton, he has really developed his talents and his experience in theater is a great help to us all." said Drama Club president Kris Marchionni.

The Drama Club also prepares those who might consider a career in acting. Junior Suzi Jeter is one such person. Why does she want to have acting as a career? "I've been acting all my life and its held my interests. I think its a challenge to try and keep people entertained. It's very satisfying when you hear the sound of applause from the audience and I know I've done a good job." For the fall season, the Drama Club's presentation was Agatha Christie's 'Ten Little Indians'. Agatha Christie was definitely a favorite of the Drama Club members and that's the reason they chose the murder/mystery comedy to entertain MHS. Among activities, the Drama Club held bake sales and other fund raisers to raise money for a trip to San Francisco to see a major production. They also raised money for productions, props, sets, and costumes. Why do you feel that the Drama Club is so important to aspiring young actors and actesses? Advisor Tom Dilbeck said, "It gives leadership, organization, production, and responsibility experience. The students do everything themselves. This is a real total experience."

Artists Sing Out

Do Re Me

This group of students met in the band room. They came with different musical experiences, individual abilities and motives for joining the class.

Choir has revealed and utilized the varied interests and potential of its participants. Junior Jenise Bostick expressed. "The course improved my singing in front of an audience without being tense, as well as gave me a Knowledge of more songs." One further advantage of this experience was being exposed to both "harmony and melody," Jenise added. There existed a positive feeling in the class. Dina Scuto said, "There's kind of a family atmosphere . . . you're able to laugh at your own mistakes."

Mr. Robert Stange, who teaches the choir, explained, "You are expressing emotions . . . music is an invisible quality, non-existent unless reproduced in voice."

With this class repsonse, it is obvious that the annually attended festivals, along with participation in a group, has developed the talent and confidence in choir students.

CRAFTSMEN

"You don't know what you're missing."

Snap, snap, bite that fly! Is that something you would hear from a punk rocker, or a cheerleader? No, only from one of the members of the fly-fisherman club, which appeared on campus for the first time. For those who aren't fly fisherman, "You don't know what you're missing," stated Senior Bob DeStefano. The club was supervised by Jim Harrill, who also taught the wilderness class. Fly fishing, for the uninformed, is an art. The fisherman casts his line out over the water with a special pole and reel. If a fish thinks the fly would make a good meal, he might find himself becoming the good meal. "The club turned out to be really fun. Think I'll do it again next year," said Jim Harrill.

Another organization that required an ability to work well with the hands was the Craftsmen. These workers met first period everyday in the woodshop. Why do students join the craftsmen? The answer is easy. Students want a course which allows them to show their artistic skills. A number of wooden items can be seen around campus, like the newly refinished tables in the electronics room, which were completed by the craftsmen. Senior Steve Brown commented, "It's really fun. These classes make Monterey High." Along with building new items for the school, they also repaired older things which required some maintenance. The craftsmen didn't get paid for their work, but they received satisfaction from the projects they made, and the grades on their report cards. "This year's class was truly outstanding. They made a lot of construction and repair that made the school work better," stated teacher Jerry Blanchard.

Competition, Exploration, Creativity

What if you had a curiosity in art but couldn't seem to sneak it into your schedule? Ever considered checking out the Art Club? If not, you probably didn't know the club offered lectures and demonstrations by local artists, as well as an opportunity to explore galleries of art. Pin-pointing the Art club's goals, adviser, Ms. Judith Jay said, "It functions as a way in which students interested in art get together to develop activities and projects." This goal was reached after the brainstorming of several members created designs for banners hung in the library, each symbolizing an academic discipline.

YOU ARE NEEDED. WHEN: Friday, noon, room 19. Sound like an Army recruiting poster? It's not another advertisement for the Army but a notice to recruit math students looking for ways to challenge their math sense.

Nervousness changes to growing confidence for participants of monthly and annual contests. Each school took turns hosting these monthly competitions in which math enthusiasts earned team points for representing their schools. Contenders calculated through an eighty minute test relating to the students' math level: Algebra I, Geometry, or Algebra II. A Math Analysis level was hoped to be added to the contests in years to come. Adviser, Will Surman, commented positively on co-adviser Carol Snow's support to the club by saying, "She's helped coach students, . . . some of her students have done very well in the contest." The series of events were climaxed by involvement in the annual Monterey County Contest, where R.L.S., Pacific Grove, York, Santa Catalina, Carmel, and Monterey High School battle against each other toward the end of April.

How did the Science Club satisfy the eagerness of many students to explore and comprehend this field of study? Among the options open to Science Club members were, " . . . a trip to San Francisco's Planetarium and an observation of a corpse disection at Monterey Peninsula College.", commented Lynn Burke.

Ray Hu added he hoped the group would endeavor to try a few experiments not yet explored by students in Science classes where most of the club's members established their inquisitiveness.

"K" Family Opens Doors

By opening their doors, the Key Club and Keywanettes carried on the tradition of serving the school and the community. "Keywanettes is a club that helps the school and community and has fun in the process," claimed Keywanette President Christine Chan.

Both clubs worked hard under their sponsoring Kiwanis Club to serve the community. They graciously put on a banquet for senior citizens, giving them a good dinner and a place to socialize. They also volunteered to help at the annual Spaulding Golf Tournament in Pebble Beach and the newly established Monterey Squid Festival.

Membership was a key to each club's success and strength. Enthusiasm flowed from new members as well as returning members. Key Club President Arnold Olorvida commented, "The club was great this year. Membership was up and we were really supported in all our activities." When asked why she joined Keywanettes, Freshman Lisa Yi replied, "It makes you feel good knowing you have helped others."

Fundraisers were another big part of both club's activities. Key Club raised a large sum of money by selling concessions at all the home games while the Keywanettes built up their account by selling pom-poms, Goblin Grams and Santa Grams. The majority of the proceeds went towards Scholarship funds and the annual Conventions at the end of the year. Key Club attended their convention in Fresno while the Keywanettes were hosted by the city of Irvine.

Next year you can expect the "K" Family to continue to play an active role in school life.

Junior Statesmen: Arguing is Their Hobby

Resolved! That the Olympics be permanantly held in Greece. This, and numerous other topics was the subject of a debate that the 1984 JSA members argued about at various conventions.

The adviser, Mr. Thompson "Tommy" has started the Monterey chapter in 1957. "This year was our lowest turnout of kids ever. Conventions are great, but if we can't get kids to come, we'll continue to have a weak chapter."

Conventions were held in various places throughout the year, with the main ones in Sacramento and San Francisco. They were run solely by a SJA student government. There were a number of different resolutions discussed each hour. Delegates decided which debate they would like to attend. There were also mock trials, and fun debates, such as, "Is there really a Santa Claus?" to break up the monotony. A chapter quiz bowl is always challenging. All chapters competed for a trophy by answering trivial questions. Chris Tobin thought that, "The quiz bowl was great because it was less serious, and more relaxed."

A single debate is set up with a pro and con speaker. The pro begins the debate with a six minute speech. Then the con speaker does the same. Time is then turned over to any reinforcement audience speakers, either affirmative or negative, for three minutes. During this time, anyone who wishes may get up and give quips of their own information, or answer questions, and this procedure goes on until the mediator calls time. Then the con speaker makes one more plea with the audience to accept his resolution, and the pro speaker closes the debate. Then the audience votes on whether the resolution passed or not, and who was the better speaker.

Delegates are usually put up in fancy hotels, and are given a dance in the evening. This is a good place to meet people from other places.

The main probelm with MHS's JSA chapter was its size. With more people, our chapter could have won more debates, and trophies. President Nancy Lee said, "I wish more people were involved. With more depth, we would have a chapter that competes with those of the South Bay."

Close Up is an unusual educational experience for the students of Monterey High. Over forty students enjoyed the week of their lives during the inauguration of the President in Washington D.C. "Close Up students return home with a better understanding of and greater appreciation for their government," said Paul Giamona, teacher-coordinator of the club.

Students were able to meet with Senators, Representatives, White House officials, lobbyists, and reporters. One semester's learning is crammed into a week of solid, hard work. Activities the students were involved in during the week were twelve seminars, which included discussions on political, economical, and social issues and a tour through Washington D.C. Students also had a pizza night out, and to conclude the week, they enjoyed a wonderful banquet and dance afterward.

"Close Up gave me the opportunity to become involved with the government. It proved to me that the politicians are just people and it's simple to get involved in the political process," said Ron Murray, Close Up president.

The enthusiastic support by Jay Bautista, (area administrator and teacher-coordinator) and Mr. Giamona was tremendous. They both deserve much credit for the time and effort they put into the club.

"As an educator, I have never observed a more intense program on governmental studies. Washington D.C. is the classroom and there is no better method in learning about our democratic process than seeing it take place in person and meeting those who are actively involved in it," said Mr. Bautista.

7. Jennelle Hommes, Steve Brown, Gina Arcoleo, and Sally Marsh- Hey guys, planning a party?

Who organizes the dances and rallies? Where do all those signs that say, "Go Dores" come from? The Associated Student Body and the Leadership class plan all these activities and more. Of all the activities planned, Mr. Dan Albert, the class advisor for the past fifteen years says, "The most important outreach (community involved) programs are the Canned Food Drive, The Blood Drive, and the Talent Show where the money goes into a scholarship. The activities we organize for the students are the rallies, dances, student elections, and both Homecoming weeks."

To be an ASB member you must be an ASB officer, class officer, commissioner, or representative. "I don't think anyone who never been a member of the ASB understands what we go through. I've been a commissioner and a class officer and its really fun, but the responsibility is sometimes overwhelming," explains senior, Lianne Minemoto.

The Principal's Advisory Committee is a big responsibility too. Their purpose is to participate in making decisions involving MHS and the educational program. The committee consists of students, teachers, and parents interested in helping out with the decision making. Dotty Chavous comments, "It's a good committee because of the insight into school activities and the Administration."

Also there to help students at MHS are the Peer Tutors, headed by Mr. Brian Morton. Students struggling with courses such as Algebra, English, or Spanish could request a peer tutor from their counselor. Although 1985 was the first year to have this program it had a definite impact on all students involved.

So if you want you want to get involved in helping people, check out the ASB, Principal's Advisory Committee, or the Peer Tutors.

SPORTS

At MHS, if you're involved in any of the thirteen sports we have to offer, you're part of a large competitive family. Each year we produce many M.B.L. Champions and even a few Central Coast Section qualifiers. Team sports are something that many people can identify with. So, if you sat around after school, and didn't compete this year, SHAPE-UP! There's always next year.

It Was One Tough Season!!!

Set-go-go-go!!! All of a sudden the center hikes the ball and off it goes, into a mad rushing play. The tight end runs out to catch the ball thrown by the quarterback and the crowd goes wild.

This past year was a year for the Varsity Football team to rebuild. It was a season of hard work that ended with few wins, but the team came through. The players worked hard trying to bring a "team" together. When asked how he felt about the season, Senior Gabe Arcoleo replied, "We tried hard, next year's team should go far because they will have the togetherness we didn't have this season." The Varsity Football team started this year with more new players than any team in six years, which made it a difficult season. Coach Wallis's reply was, "We had a great team attitude with lots of character . . . Lots of character!"

They Were Family

After winning their first six games, they knew what it felt like to be winners. They knew they were on the way to having a good season. The players on the J.V. Football team felt that the fans at the home and out of town games were very supportive. Sophomore, Mark Sanders said, "After banging heads for two quarters straight and knowing the fans are still behind you 100% is really inspirational. We felt that's what kept us going. We stuck together as a unit and it all paid off."

Football is nothing really but a game of brains, quick reaction, and strategic maneuvers. The J.V.'s felt that the center was the most important man on the field. They felt if the center didn't snap the ball on the proper count, the quarterback wouldn't be able to give the ball to the receiver. One of MHS's halfbacks, William "Squeaky" Parker, was quoted as saying, "As a J.V. Football player it seems by the yard life is hard, by the inch it's a cinch."

The J.V. players knew as a team that they must regroup in the seasons to come or it would be even harder to stay on top. For the Freshmen that will be next year's J.V. team, the'84-'85 J.V. team wish you good luck.

Being new to this high school ball and to this school, didn't seem to slow us down at all."

Coach Ron Bettencourt felt that the team should be represented in league play next year as a championship team. Jason Woods summed up the season by saying that, "Next year everybody should watch out, 'cause we are going to bring Monterey High School tradition back." So let's watch out, because maybe they will.

Striving For Success

Cross Country running remained a sport for unique individuals who gained satisfaction from their own personal achievements. It lacked the glamour and glory of other sports such as football and basketball and yet the runners trained vigorously to be the best that they could be. One such individual was Sophomore Jeff Williams who commented, "It's a fun sport and I wish more people would go out for it."

Coach John Whisler described the season as one of struggle - struggling to overcome the adversity they were faced with. One trouble plaguing the teams was their youth and inexperience. It proved to be a year of rebuilding with the novice runners and Ray Hu as the only senior on Varsity.

The women's team endured the disappointment of having to forfeit all their meets because they fielded an incomplete team. The three women runners competed on an individual basis and managed to keep their spirits high. "Even though we didn't have a full team, we kept up our morale through the whole season," said first-rate runner Darcy Hatton.

Regardless of how the season ended, these men and women gave it their best shot and deserved to be proud of their achievements.

Success

"All we are is Olympic Volleyball players playing for MHS," claimed Patti Dingle, senior, about Mike Weesner's Varsity Volleyball team. Maybe they were. Do you remember the Debbie Green spike in the'84 Summer Olympics? If you missed it you could have seen it reenacted at this year's volleyball game against Seaside. After being beaten by Seaside in preliminary games, Monterey High School came back and unexpectedly "creamed" our arch rivals Seaside. Coach Mike Weesner claimed that was the first time in his eight years of coaching that everybody, including the players that did not start, was skilled.

As a rule, even though a team might have skilled players, teamwork is a necessity. According to Ammy Moral they had plenty: "It takes a whole team, everybody contributes, or else we would be nothing." As a skilled, united team, Mike Weesner's thirteen player Varsity and Rei Yoshinobou's fourteen player Junior Varsity started and ended this season successfully.

Swimmers meet their Challenge

"Let's stay in control but be intense," repeated Coach Ken Esaki. Above all, any Junior Varsity or Varsity swimmer would agree, Coach Esaki's take-it-one-event-at-a-time pep talks did much to prepare and empower the two teams. As Junior Varsity swimmer Suzanne Scuto said, "He (Esaki) is always proud of us whether or not we win . . . it is the gut effort that matters to him and the team."

Coach Esaki mentioned to his teams, "We have a lot of depth." He encouraged them to put emphasis on starts, turns, and finishes in each event, where the outcome is most often determined.

As in previous years, a few meets came to the last two events to determine the victor: 400 free relay for Varsity and the 200 free relay for Junior Varsity. Santa Catalina, Salinas, and Carmel provided the most competition of the season's schedule.

However, unlike last year, Monterey refused to be intimidated by that team known for its 100+ winning streak- Carmel. This year Carmel escaped by approximately 40 points contrasted to the 100 point lead over Monterey in the past. "We went into each meet with toughness and did our utmost best," spoke Kim Peredo for both teams.

6:00-7:00 a.m. workouts payed off for a group of dedicated swimmers who attended this intense hour of individual training. Strengths made stronger, weakness turned to strength was the purpose of these Monday, Wednesday, and Friday early-bird specials.

Another factor deciding the result of a meet was the diving scores. Clementa Gustafson earned her way up to a score of 207.3, breaking the school record, in the meet against Carmel. Junior Varsity diver Ruth Prange explained their good performance resulted from the "non-pressured" coaching which gave the divers incentive to push themselves toward their individual goals.

1. Kathy Waligora comes up for another breath in her major event: 100 yard breastroke.
2. Coach Ken Esaki catches up with the times.
3. Christa Johnson prepares for blast off in the Varsity 100 yard backstroke.
4. Susan Lewis jumps to a start for team points at the first meet of the season.
5. Varsity diver Rachael Adams surfaces, relieved after a good dive.

"Great serve!" "Smash that ball!" "Lob! Lob!" "Game, set, and match—Monterey High School." Most often this is heard on the courts at the U.S. Open or Wimbledon, signifying the victory of Martina Navratilova or Chris Evert-Lloyd.

Here at Monterey High we had some Navratilova's and Evert-Lloyd's of our own in the forms of Lisa Mineo, Crystal Calderon and the rest of the eleven finest tennis players on the Peninsula. First year coach Ali Moezzi helped lead the women's tennis team to a 10 and 2 record, putting MHS in a three way tie with Gilroy and Salinas.

Colleen McBarron enthusiastically said, "Monterey hasn't had a team like us in years!" All the other members of the team seem to share Colleen's exuberance and spirit. It was hard not to feel this way, and Heather Hudson summed it up in just three words, "We are AWESOME!"

A swimmer's life began at five A.M. for those who chose early morning practices. The day ended twelve hours later after school and more practice for the entire team.

Clearly, it was a tough life for swimmers, but the long hours proved worthwhile as the swim team beat two of their most difficult opponents, Harbor High and Salinas High, at the beginning of the season.

The team was definitely a good one as Ken Esaki stated, "If our newcomers can continue to improve and the returning people can swim to their potenial we could have the best swim team in my 5 years at MHS." Junior Mike Carter had mutual feelings, "We had an assortment of All-American champs, the singing on the buses and the prayers before the meets all helped develop an inspiration for the team."

"We're great! On our first meet of the year, against Soquel, we won easily with only eight varsity swimmers," stated team captain David Dixon.

The best victory was during the Salinas Invitational where MHS came from behind to beat Harbor, who had won the meet the past 5 years, by a two point margin.

1. "Oh?!?! I got a cramp in my back", said Joey Lucido.
2. "Did someone call my name?" asked David Beeson.

What does tennis mean to you? To some, Tennis may be a sport where you beat the life out of a yellow ball all over a court, but to many members of the tennis team, it was both hard work and fun to play. Greg Steelman said, "tennis means something different to all of us on the team, to me it's just a way to relax and enjoy myself. The other players and Coach Ali Moezzi have different reasons for being involved, but one thing we all share is the desire to pull ourselves into a team and win ourselves an MBL championship."

This season, there are many new players on the team like Arnaud Benois-Vidal who said, "Monterey has not the best players, but what makes our strength is the bottom of the line, especially in doubles. This is why with a very good coach, we will go very far." Another newcomer to this team is Pat Fernandez who remarked, "Monterey has a very good tennis team this year and we should take MBL and maybe do pretty good in CCS with the help of our great coach and the determination of all of us players."

All the excitement from the tennis team could be summed up in one phrase by Senior Tommy Hemenway, "We're off to the Wimbleton."

Wrestling (res'ling) 1. a sport in which two opponents struggle hand in hand in order to pin or press each other's shoulders to the mat or ground. 2. a sport in which Monterey High School wrestlers excelled. 3. a sport in which no other school could match the spirit, enthusiasm, and skill of Monterey High wrestlers.

Was this the way your dictionary read? Well, maybe it should have. What other school had a wrestling team as devoted as MHS's? Did the other school schools get to host a guest like Olympic gold medal wrestling winner Dave Schultz? Did the others come close to having outstanding coaches like our Bill Grant?

The wrestling team was responsible for hosting and conducting this year's squid feed. This feed was so successful, money was raised for all the sports participating. "When you're on the MHS wrestling team you learn to wrestle, to work yourself to the utmost, it is a hard experience, but definitely worth it," claimed JV wrestler Jay Kim. Steve Stornetta expanded on the same note, "It's the hardest sport offered at MHS, no other athletes have to push themselves like we do and that's how we get to be what we are."

If you ever visited the MHS wrestling room you probably noticed a sign reading "Victory goes to those who are willing to pay the price," and if you preceded to watch the wrestlers you probably noticed that this motto was a perfect logo for the MHS wrestlers. They were a fine group of young, enthusiastic, hard working men that made up a team that deserved much respect.

Go team go!

Sticks, green and gold tartan skirts, JV green skirts, snarls, cheers, laughter, smiles, and boos and hisses all made up a great game of girl's field hockey.

The year was a fairly good one for Mrs. Walthour's Varsity team. They didn't start off as great as they could have but by the end the team became stronger.

"We might not have got off to a great start but by the end of the season we left our mark on every team" varsity member Vera Schwirzke commented.

Both coaches, Mrs. Joan Walthour and Mr. Bill Martin put in many long hours but it was a worth while cause. "I've had the best JV team for six years," Bill Martin shouted with glee. He is one of the proudest coaches at Monterey High! Not only was the JV team undefeated but they didn't even have a goal scored against them. Monterey High's JV field hockey team out did all other teams in the league, leaving the others wide eyed and open mouthed all season.

. . . See the green and gold people running. Wow! They sure are neato.

Coached by Jeff Uchida, Bo Resch, and assisted by Matt King, the Monterey High co-ed track team, as usual turned out numerous excellent track stars. Luisa Kelly, senior, and one of these stars, claimed this year was her best, "I thought the past years of track were great, but this year with the new coaching staff and all the skilled newcomers it was the best." Heidi Linkenbach, one of these skilled newcomers, was at first hesitant to run "For the past two years I played softball, but I finally got the guts to run. I'm so glad I did because because participating was always exciting."

From hurdles to shot-puts, from javelins to high jumps, from discus to sprints and the two mile run, MHS athletes excelled. The team did not only have certain strong points, they had dominant tracksters in all events. Coach Jeff Uchida felt they were a threat to the other teams in the league. "Our strong points were in the middle distance runners and the distance teams. The team was lucky to have the help of two fine coaches Matt King and Bo Resch." Senior Mason Tuck added, 'Having Bo Resch here has been a real help to all of us and some of the new equipment made a big difference."

Dores . . . Never Gave up

Dribble! Jump! Shoot! What comes to your mind when you hear these three little words? Basketball, Of course! With tremendous energy, M.H.S.'s women's basketball teams battled up and down the courts during the 84-85 season.

The teams consisted of many inexperienced new-comers. The J.V. team was mostly made up of freshmen who lacked the experience of playing high school basketball. The Varsity team had three returning players, one of whom were seniors.

Varsity coach, Armour Crawford, worked his team long and hard. Many of the girls were unaccustomed to the pressures they were suddenly faced with, but they quickly learned to adapt. The girls on the J.V. team were no strangers to hard work. Their coach, David Ravizza, was also a firm believer in long practice sessions.

Many of the girls had to play the entire game because there were only a few substitutes. Freshman, Sarah Cruzan, stated, "It was fun, but a lot of hard work came with it."

The basketball teams had strikes against them from the beginning of the season, such as the lack of supporters and players at their games, but they stuck it out to the very end. J.V. player, Janel House, voiced the thoughts of everyone on the team, "We were very determined and full of spirit, but we didn't work quite hard enough. We had our ups and downs on and off court, but we enjoyed ourselves and will be back in full blast next year!"

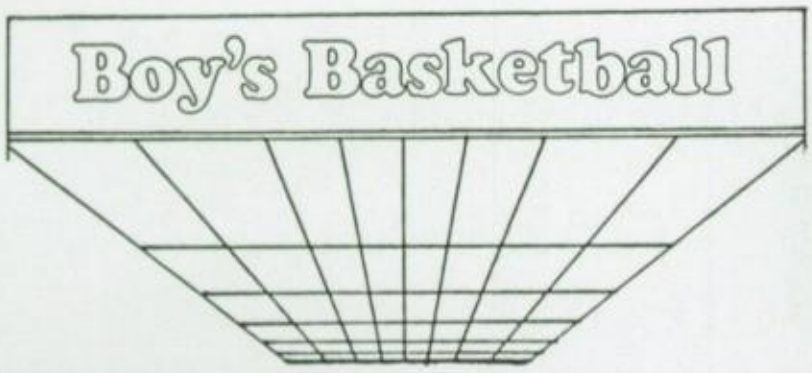
"Practice and discipline- the keys to success." David Ravizza



I enjoyed being with this group of young men. They are playing hard in a very tough M.B.L. league. We had a fine pre-season, despite a disappointing league record 8-2 to date. Our overall is 9-9 and we're still improving and playing with good intensity. It makes me optomistic about the future."

-Coach Randy Randall

MHS Sweats For Victory

The Varsity hoop team didn't get all the breaks they were entitled to, even though they were a well prepared basketball team. Their offense was well organized with fast reacting guards and a quick center who made precision passes to the net-busting fowards. One of M.H.S.'s forwards, Chris Jackson said, "All we had to do was keep the pace and work together as one instead of individuals efforts." Monterey High's Varsity center Francis Banks was never known for throwing in the towel until it was all over, even when the score was on his team's side. He commented, "We played hard and we were capable of putting the points on the board, even when we were backed into a corner."

The J.V. b-ball team started with a lot of wins under their belts. Joey Rappa, remarked, "This year I really think the whole team learned a lot about the game of basketball. Even though we were not as successful as I had hoped. I enjoyed playing with fellow classmates. Ivan Edwards was quoted saying, "We hit the courts in full stride and we were able to put the points on the board. I feel in the years to come we will rank #1."

Coach Jeff Uchida of the freshman team said, "We were short but fast. With work we should have a successful season," They may had been short in size, but they weren't in heart or in skill. Stanley Thomas said, "We don't look all that great in baggy uniforms, but the things we wore didn't make the team, it's what we had inside."

Dores Softball Spirit Soars

What would MHS be like without a softball program? Total dilemma! The combined experience of both the JV and Varsity team was enough to send someone to the pro's. The awesome offense and the tight defense kept the lady Dores in the thick of the league. A big part of the varsity defense was excellent pitching by Senior Kathy Waligora and Sophomore Darlene Arquette who was brought up from JV right before league games started. "This is the best team I've ever played for. Pitching against Varsity is alot more challenging than playing for the JV's," commented Darlene Arquette.

The JV team started off their season agressively by taking third in the annual Gilroy Tournament. Out of sixteen teams, third place was quite an accomplishment. Varsity didn't place in the tournament, but they did play a tough game to gain a tough win against Mitty High School from San Jose. Much enthusiasm was developed from that game and it stayed with the Dores throughout the season. "We had such a blast this season, we really had a lot of good times, but when we really needed to get our heads in the game and get serious, we did that too," said Senior Crystal Calderon.

The Junior Varsity entered the league games 9-3, Varsity entered 8-5.

Baseball: the All-American Sport

"Baseball, hot dogs, apple pie and Chevorolet", is a very common all-American saying, but a more appropriate quote for M.H.S. would have to be, "M.H.S. baseball, corndogs, snicker-doodles, and mini-trucks."

This year's team was very inexperienced with few seniors on it. About this, Joe Rappa commented, "This year we had a very young team. We were constantly improving and working hard as a unit." Their hard work did prove to be a plus. They grew in experience and into a close-knit group.

At the begining of the season Eric Tarallo said, "I feel that our destiny remains in our own hands. If we work hard and are dedicated, I believe we will have an extremely successfull year." They started the season off great. "One of our greatest strengths were our attitudes", said Bob Destefano "Everybody wanted to win and everybody helped each other out."

MHS T's Off

Fore! This was a favorite word shouted across the golf course as the M.H.S. golf team practiced. This season they were a very strong team even though they lost a few players last year.

When asked about the team, Senior Pat Schrady said, "There are a lot of younger talent on the squad but the upper classmen are the strength of our team."

Our team this year, as in past years, will mainly consist of young talent, but I feel we should do well this season," agreed Varsity player Ron Tumelson.

Their home course was at Old Del Monte but they also played other courses around the Monterey Bay area. M.H.S. was fortunate enough to play on such world famous courses as Pebble Beach, Spy Glass, and Laguna Seca.

Their nearby opponents, Carmel High and R.L.S. proved to be the most challenging teams.

Golf was more popular in 84-85 than in previous years and the team had a lot of confidence.

Quoted Senior John Sisson, "With a lot of under classmen on the squad, golf at Monterey High School has a bright future."

"Never give up, stay tough, and keep kickin'!" is her philosophy.

This team was an international team, with players from many different countries. "At the beginning of the season, we had a hard time communicating, but as the season progressed, we got to know each other better, and as a result, played alot better together," said Senior, Mark DeWeese,

The soccer team had a pretty even season, ended up in league, and had an all around great time.

What do the radius of a circle, the periodic table, adjectives, dineros, George Washington, and police science all have in common? All share one particular theme: Academics. Academic/courses covered everything English, History, Special Education, Math, Foreign language, to Science. Alan Poole, a teacher in the Social Studies Department for nine years remarked, "I am encouraged in that the last few years, a significantly larger number of students have shown an interest in the academics." He went on to say, "This interest has had a positive impact on the quality in the academic program at Monterey High."

Along with long hours of homework, and studying for tests and exams, came lots of heavy burdens. Books seemed inescapable. Almost every class had one, some teachers issued two or three. Freshman Laura Young, when asked how text books affected her school life, replied "I like them. They help me build my muscles." Senior Edmond Stark wrapped academics up by stating, "I feel that the academics program enriches our lives beyond the boundaries of our minds. It is with no doubt, the best academic program in this nation."

In The Making

Why was Ronald Reagan re-elected for president? What provoked Columbus to set sail from Spain? Who was the first governor of California? What religions are practiced in Indonesia? These are only a few questions a student can find the answers to in a Social Studies class. Freshman Tami Bowers said, "Social Studies prepares you for the different people, religions, and customs you might encounter during life. It prepares you for many social problems you will deal with."

There are several electives which can be taken in the Social Studies department. World History, U.S. History, California History, Civics, and Geography are only some possibilities. Paul Giamona, the head of the Social Studies department, gave this comment when questioned. He said, "The good thing about Social Studies this year is that after 13 years, we finally have new books in World History, U.S. History, Civics, Socialogy, and Geography. As for doing anything more interesting this year, from a student's point of view, I'm afraid it's the same ol' stuff."

How does Social Studies prepare MHS students for the future?

Senior, Mark Dandrige: "I think it teaches you the mistakes that our forefathers made so we won't make the same mistakes."

Freshman, Lisa Johnson: "Social Studies teaches you about the past to prepare you to make wise decisions in the future."

Junior, John Rodriguez: "I think Social Studies helps me to decide on the right and wrong things to do in my life so things will work out for the better."

Senior, Jimmy Battle: "It teaches you things you should know about the country we live in."

Junior, Chris Smith: "It prepares you for what the future holds, and what you can do to make the best of it."

Freshman, Clay Kauffold: "Social Studies teaches us how to interact with the people we will meet, and understand them better."

READING and RULES

The English department at M.H.S. experienced many new additions to the usual curriculum this year. Headed by Mr. Richard Lundy, the department was very excited about the changes. For the first time, College Prepatory English classes were introduced to Owlcat, a new computer program that helps students prepare for the SAT. Also appearing for the first time was a list of guidelines that was mandatory for every class. Among these were strict penalties. For example, tardiness, unexcused absences, and unacceptable behavior could lead to failure of the course.

Curt Cureton, a C.P. English teacher, stated, "These new rules can really be useful in helping some students to develop good attitudes about learning."

Required reading was a big part of all English classes. Books ranging from such topics as desert sand people in Dune to the intellect of Joseph P. Satin's Ideas in Context were assigned to English students. Les Miserables, The Scarlet Letter, All Quiet on the Western Front, and Huckleberry Finn were also seen around campus. Did anyone really read these classics?

Sue Kim, a junior, added, "The books that I was assigned to read were interesting, but I found some of them hard to understand."

English is the only course at Monterey that is required for four years. When asked how she felt about that, senior, Sophia Batson, replied, "Although I found English dull at times, it really is necessary for success in college."

What do you want to be when you grow up?

ROP, a program designed to help students plan their future, was a big part of many MHS pupil's lives this year. While some students stayed within the classrooms at MHS for the average school day, others traveled across town to expand their knowledge in specialized areas and gained the little extra headstart that is often needed to land the career that one hopes to have. So felt Senior Lynelle Takigawa, an Rop student in dentistry. "I have to continue schooling after graduation in the field of dentistry, but having taken ROP in school has given me the headstart in the career I want." Nancy Lee, another Senior involved in the ROP program felt she was also gaining much experience to help her in the future. "The program was better for me than taking classes I have no use for in my future."

7. Can you guess why students obey teacher Jim Harrill?

ESL . . .

Languages

Hard work and patience along with the desire to learn something new were the things all English students go through. Many students at MHS felt that the presence of English as a Second Language students was what gave them a chance to learn about other's back grounds. Many E.S.L. students felt that the teachers that taught E.S.L. classes were all a part of making this a school that gave every person, no matter what race, or color, a chance to be a part of Montery High School. There is very little similanty between E.S.L. and regular English classes.

One of the many teachers that made this course work was Mr. Hudson who was quoted saying, "I would like my students to learn more English at a faster pace and to let themselves take more of a part in the culture of this country." Tuan Van Vu was quoted saying, "My E.S.L. class helped me meet more friends. I would have guessed that learning something new would catch any ones eye and get them involved." Tee Nee Nguyen commented, "My E.S.L. class gave me a chance to learn about a new culture. E.S.L. helped students adjust to life in America."

While ESL students are busy learning to speak English, American students are busy learning a foreign language. MHS offers French, German, Italian, Chinese, and Spanish to interested students.

Ms. Ilse Daly, Department Chairperson stated, "Our goal is to offer a variety of language experiences that prepare the students for college, for work/study or travel abroad and give them an appreciation of the people and their culture whose language is being studied. Included in the foreign language experiences are the following opportunities for students:

1. Choose from five foreign languages offered
2. Be a part of the International Studies Program
3. Participate in weekend language camps
4. Join a foreign language club
5. Take national competitive examinations."

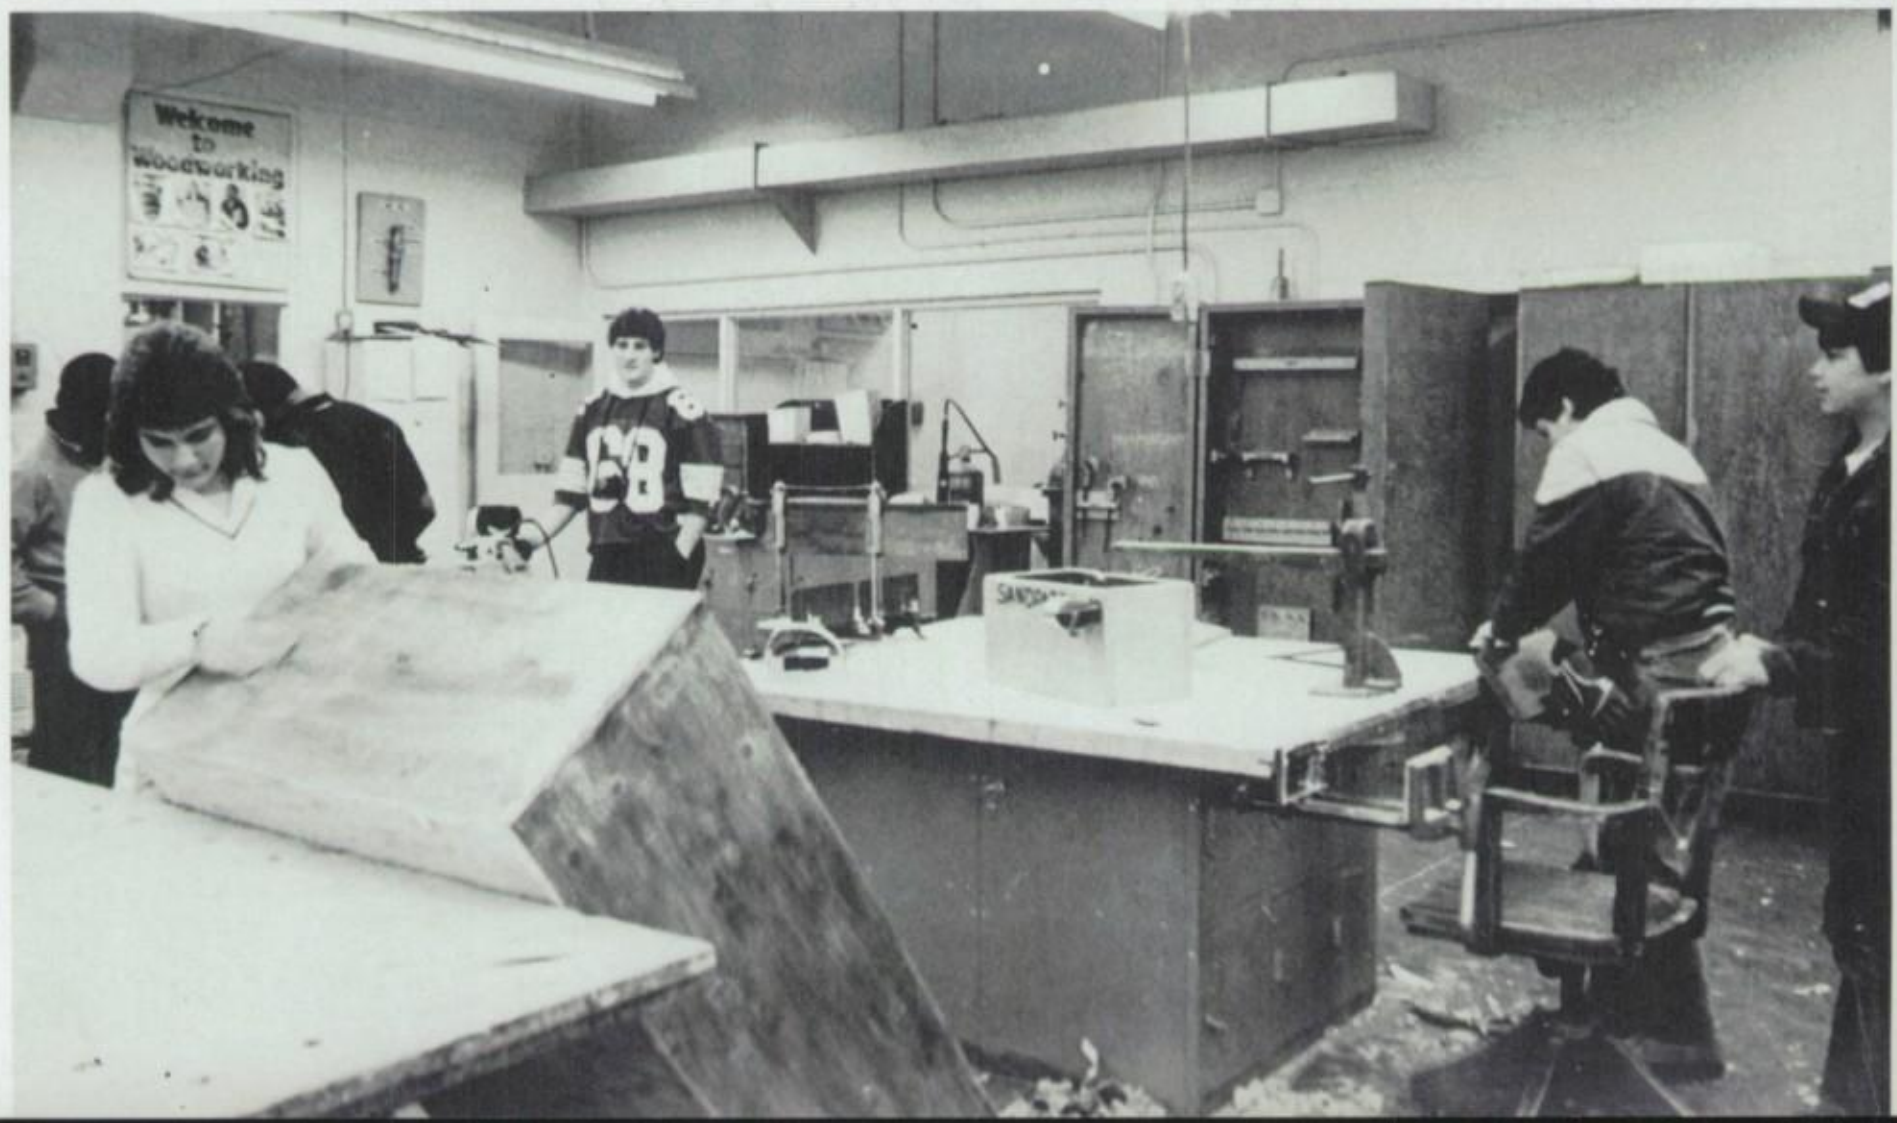
Music, Art, Home Ec, Business and Industrial Arts Come To Life



New and exciting things happened this year in the subjects of Music, Industrial Arts, Arts, and Business. These subjects were interesting to our students and helped them further their careers and prepare for life after high school.

There was much happening in the music department here at Monterey High School. Most notably, we had an outstanding Jazz band this year. The jazz band was made up of members of the concert/marching band. We were probably the finest High School jazz band in the country, and we attended four major competitions and festivals this last spring. For example, one such festival was the Reno International Jazz Festival, a major event attracting bands from all over the Western States and Canada, but the exciting part was that Monterey High got to attend this festival. Several students from the band auditioned for, and made, various local and state honor groups. Peter Nicola was accepted into the All-State concert Band, a band made up of the best musicians in California. Kenny Kipp was accepted into the Central Coast Section honor Jazz Band.

In Industrial Arts the Woodworking department had built large storage cabinets for the ESL classes and built the new exercise equipment for the school. Many students did excellent and difficult projects. Mr. Blanchard was particularly pleased with everything the students did.

In the Art department there was Advanced Drawing. Also three class members did large (12 X 18 in.) self-portraits in pastels. All art classes contributed to the making of banners for the Library. These were done in bright colored parachute nylon and hung from the ceiling. Ceramic classes made and designed decorative tiles to use for borders in the art room.

In the Business department computers were the main cause. Students enjoyed them a lot as computers are the going thing now!

1. Angie Hoffman, Ida Huang, Eric Fredrickson and Kirk Rasmussen: It's not the time to be playing video games!
2. Everyone in the woodshop class works hard with the exception of Mike Sardina, who thinks he's in the photo class.
3. Jeff Roof, Walter Crosby, Noah Trosky are trying to break into school again.
4. Liz Carmenta and Rochelle McDaniel show how fun art classes can be!

Required Classes?

You may be wondering what Math, Science and P.E. have in common. Well, without giving it any thought it seems the answer is nothing. In Math, E=mc2, and the Pythagorean Thereom are taught. In Science, microscopes, test tubes and formulas are everyday fare, and in P.E., archery, badminton and weight lifting are the activities of choice. These subjects did have one thing in common, however, they were all requirements for graduation.

In the Science Department there were no new policies or requirements this year, but the field of science is always changing and has great effect on MHS students. Mr. Clark, head of the Science Department, said, "There are new studies being done today on Genetic Engineering that will effect us in the future. Students at MHS will be doing the same studies in time to come."

Physical Education came at us with a few new requirements, like calisthenics before each activity. Also, there was an evaluation based upon individual participation and a teacher evaluation. John Rodriguez commented, "I like P.E. because it gives me a chance to take out all of my aggression by lifting weights."

In Math there were no new requirements. Students still needed twenty credits and two years of Math to graduate. Everyone must also pass the proficiency test. "I enjoy Math because I know it will help me in a future computer career," said Junior Clay Kauffold.

It was a year of change at MHS and academics definately came at us as teachers and administrators alike cracked down!

Behind the Scenes

Monterey High staff members reflected on their positions at the school in response to questions reguarding their work; how their interests related to what they did and what was most enjoyable or rewarding in the work. Maybe these reactions will lead M.H.S. students toward becoming better personally acquainted with the staff featured on these pages.

Q: Ms. Gerry Montgomery (Business & computer teacher) What were your primary interests in school? Were these interests anything similar to what you are doing now as a teacher at M.H.S.?

A: Yes, my major interests were in teaching and that has become my profession. I majored in Health and Physicial Education and now I'm involved with Computer Education, so that's a big change.

Q: Ms. Beverly Braun (Head Librarian) What attracts you to library work-is it the organization or helping people?

A: I'm a people person and I love to read. The Library Profession seems to be a happy solution to my needs, that is to help people read books and to connect people and good books.

Q: Is there a certain type of literature and/or author that you would recommend to students? Why?

A: Although I do have a favorite books and I know a lot of authors personally, I think that the Librarians role is to help students follow their individual interests and needs. So, I will ask questions about interests and try to find a readable book on that subject for a student.

Q: Jackie Cerchy (Head of the Cafeteria) How do you plan the day's/month's menu?

A: The menus are planned by the Food Service Director and are given to us monthly.

Q: What is the most popular item?

A: Menus for Manager's Choice is often the school favorite.

Q: Mr. Ron Bettencourt (Aide), What is your most memorable experience at M.H.S.?

A: The Key Club's Senior Citizen's Dinner sponsered by the Drama department and Key Clubs . . . (it was) a real colorful day with all the volenteers help to promote the gala event.

Q: What do you feel is the most significant about the purpose of your work at the school?

A: The opportunity to work with quality students and see the growth over a four year period with our informal leadership and guidance.

Q: Mrs. Jean Curtis (Nurse) Did you intend to work with people in a medical situation upon entering college? What made you consider this career?

A: Yes, I was already a registered nurse when I went to college to earn my degree and complete additional coursework to become a certified school nurse. This career made it possible for me to work with young people as a health professional and still have time to be my family.

Q: How is this job rewarding to you?

A: It is rewarding knowing I help people realize the power they have in determining their own level of "wellness" by the health choices they make.

Q: Mr. Dave Langdon (Work Experience counselor) What advice would you give to students who are or will be looking for a job in the near future?

A: Every student should obtain the necessary education in order to obtain a suitable job in his/her interest area. Developing good attendence, the ability to get along with others, and a determination to work hard are essential to success.

Q: How many students have jobs presently, which will help them in their future career?

A: Any students who are working in a paid or unpaid job are developing skills which will keep them in a future career.

Toreadore Care is Everywhere

Caring. That was the attitude that flowed from the administration and staff of MHS. By instituting a new attendance policy which went into effect second semester, they hoped to give students of MHS a better education. The program consisted of strict rules to discourage students from cutting and being tardy. After a third tardy, students receive detention. At the fifth tardy, grades were lowered and parents were notified. The sixth tardy sent you to your counselor, the seventh to the Dean of Students and the eighth caused a failing grade. Cutting class brought a series of detentions until the fourth time when all classes that were cut would have their grades lowered and their parents were notified. The seventh cut or unexcused absence resulted in expulsion from MHS and relocation at Cypress High. Parents received phone calls from the school after each tardy, cut or unexcused absence.

State law AB813 made it possible for MHS to re-evaluate what they needed to do to pass state rules and regulations. By reducing the number of cuts and tardies, the administration and staff at MHS hoped students would learn more. It also increased revenue by receiving money from the state for every student in school each day, but Vice Principal Jonathan Beane stressed, "The most important thing is to improve the academic standing of all students."

The office most affected by the policy was the attendance office. Having the job of hand posting all tardies and absences of every student at MHS made Supervisor Mrs. Mancuso and Ms. Miller two of the busiest women on campus. Luckily as second semester rolled around, they were aided by a computer which phoned home for them and helped keep track of tardies and absences.

The slogan "Toreadore Care is Everywhere" came straight from Principal Jim Anderson who was inspired by the "super-caring attitude of the class of 1985." Mr. Anderson and the staff of MHS dedicated themselves to putting more time and effort into helping students. He stated, "I think MHS is an outstanding institution and it's going to get better."

Second semester also brought in a new Dean of Students, Larry Snyder. He hoped to install pride in every student and to make MHS "The best high school in the state."

Another group of dedicated, caring people was the counseling staff. Carol Taylor-Weesner was added as the fifth counselor which gave students more time with their respective counselors. After receiving a report card from the state, the counseling staff decided they needed to improve students' basic skills in math, reading and writing, reduce the number of proficiency classes and encourage advanced courses in science and math. They developed programs to improve counselor-student relationships and peer tutor programs in which students help other students. Head counselor Brian Morton explained, "It's a team effort. We hope to have an important, dramatic effect on campus and continue a tradition of excellence at MHS."

Mind your "A's" and "B's"

For twelve long years you have learned that the alphabet begins with the letter "A". Now, you're about to learn that there are no absolutes in life. We've proven that fact with this year's El Susurro. As you can see, the alphabet now begins with the letter "C". So, all of you seniors whose names begin with "A" and "B", turn to the back of the Senior Portraits to find your smiling faces!

SENIORS

SENIORS . . . At Last

The Senior class officers held many responsibilities, and among the most important was making the year fun and memorable for the rest of the Senior class. Did they do their job? "I won't make examples of those that didn't do their job, but of those that did. Of course there were more good things than bad," commented ASB President, Patty Dingle. Other first semester officers included Vice-President Stephanie Saffold, Secretary Nancy Lee, and Treasurer Steve Brown, all seniors. Senior class officers were President Dottie Chavous, Vice-President Ida Huang, Secretary Lianne Minemoto, and Treasurer Mary Miller. These officers helped make it possible for some students to go to Gradnite at Disneyland free through candy sales.

"At the beginning of the year we were all divided in our opinions and in just about everything, but towards the end of our term, we became more like one unit working together to make things work," explained Dottie Chavous. These are just a few seniors who worked hard and got involved. In this section are the rest who helped make things happen.

5. Senior Class officers are top left, Secretary Lianne Minemoto, Vice President Ida Huang, bottom left, Treasurer Mary Miller, and President Dotty Chavous.

There's Something About . . . Being Different! A Senior!

What does it mean to be a senior? To some it means being able to stay out at night and have more freedom. To others it means more responsibilities.

Being a senior means that it is time to grow up. It's a time to ponder on what lies ahead. It is a time to start using the skills that have been learned throughout life to survive as an adult. Being a senior is being at the gateway to the real world. It is different from being an underclassmen in that now instead of following examples, we now set them.

Kevin Dixon

To me, being a senior means being under a constant stress of having to make deadlines for college applications, senior pictures, and college entrance exams. Along with that come all the problems and worries of high school, received with my graduation. It's different from being an underclassmen because as a senior you have to uphold various traditions such as senior pranks. There are also many more activities set up for seniors that you don't get to participate in as a underclassmen.

Mark DeWeese

Being a senior means learning to drink Kuphy for college. As an underclassmen you don't have to drink that wretched stuff.

Kathy Waligora

As a senior I can be looked up to and thought of as a role model for the underclassmen. I myself must set an example as a model student for the underclassmen to emulate. I face a lot of stress and worrying about whether I will be accepted to the universities from which I have applied to. I think the main difference is now you will be known as a "SENIOR", and not just a junior. The underclassmen must also worry about their future and applying to the universities. They have more worries and stress because they have to get and maintain high GPA's. They also have to worry about taking the SAT's and ACT's, where as a senior you've been through it already.

Tommy Hemenway

It means to have gained experience, seeing clearer. For it is not the end, but the beginning of the end. Underclassmen believe they have achieved knowledge, but in fact they have not. They should be cautious before they approach us. Underclassmen should follow examples set by the upperclassmen.

Stephen Phillip

To me, being a senior is a scary thing. I think in some ways I'm afraid to graduate and change my everyday routine. Being a senior makes a person feel more like an adult. It is different now, because when I was an underclassman I didn't take school seriously. I fooled around more. Now, being a senior means I only have a few more steps until I will be on my own. Facing more responsibilities than ever before.

Going to movies, holding hands, dining out, getting jealous, having fights, making up and tight squeezes. These are all part of a high school relationship. Having a boyfriend or girlfriend can be an exciting part of high school. On the other hand it can be a bothersome hassle.

Going out with someone for a long period of time can take away from being with friends. It's easy to start devoting all free time to that one special person and to neglect friends. Usually friends will understand, but it's still difficult to decide what to do.

One solution to the problem is to go out with someone the same age. This way friends and couples can go out together on weekends. Heidi Linkenbach and Pat Schrady are a good example of how this concept works. To many other seniors, these high school relationships brought satisfaction and enjoyment to their years at M.H.S.

Why are all these people alway seen together? Is it because they are attached like Siamese twins? Or are they insecure without the other being right by their side at all times? Well, maybe it's just the fact that many kids have been together since kindergarten, traveling from grade to grade together. Some feel it's shared interests that bring peers together to form cliques, groups, or gangs. Whatever it is that does bring friends together to form these relationships, its a unity that makes up a very important part of all high school students' schooling years. Without this unity there would be nobody to share our experiences, troubles, and joys with and our lives would be left with a bit of emptiness.

As it turns out, friends, pals, and buddies are a must for the happy high school student, and that's why these inseparable friends can always be seen together.

Hawaii 1985! It looks as if the seniors of 1985 will be the last seniors to hit the islands from MHS. Sunny skies, warm water, and tropical rains, Hawaii's got it and we want it! Each class always has their top 10. Those few individuals who turn out with perfect or near perfect report cards, quarter after quarter, semester after semester, and year after year. Academicaly inclined, concerned with college preparation, these students are looked up to and recognized for their abilities to accomplish the near impossible. Maintaining a high GPA is no easy task, especially when it is a GPA of 4.00.

Every year there are a few students who stand apart from the rest. Kenny Kipp was one of those students. He was sure to draw a few stares when he walked down the halls. Christine Wilcox- "Chris", "Christy", "Sickie" . . . Known for: Being with Rei and Monica, talking a lot, hugs, being hyper, and always smiling. Likes: Football games, going out, the beach, and parties (Hi Mom). Dislikes: Stuck-up people and reports. Greatest accomplishments: Making Honor Roll and graduating from MHS. Future plans: Going to college and finding that special someone. Good luck Tisa!

Brent M. Wooldridge- "BMW", "Wooly", "Musburger", "Brent Baby" . . . Known for: Driving a '55 Chevy. Likes: Hot sunny days at the gorge, girls at the lake, waterskiing, and wrestling. Dislikes: Girls who think they are better than everyone else, getting kicked out of parties. Greatest accomplishments: Graduating. Future plans: Buying a 4x4 truck, living in the mountains and enjoying life to the fullest.

Sharon Ayako Yamashita- Known for: Being a mouse, driving a 200sx, and being a yamobethere. Fondest memories: Meeting all my "true" friends and clam chowder at Denny's on Friday nights. To all my special friends- "You've made my high school years memorable and worth cherishing." To my parents-"Thanks for helping and understanding me during my high school years and the love you've always given me."

Donald D. Young-"Dunn", "DY", "Arnold" . . . Known for: Driving a thrashed brown Rabbit and getting into trouble with Derek England, going out with Rhonda Sturgill, having fun and partying with the big guys, hating people who use others, and doing crazy things at the Gorge in Big Sur.

Todd Young- "Yoda" . . . Known for: Being crazy and chewing Copenhagen. Likes: Copenhagen, country music, Hank concerts, waterskiing, outdoors, good looking chicks, and partying with my friends. Dislikes: Getting woken up by the police after sleep overs, stuck-up chicks, and Carmel Preppies. Greatest accomplishments: Graduating and becoming successful.

Tim T. Wilson- "Timmer", "Scooter" . . . Known for: Riding my bike everywhere. Enjoys: Swimming, biking, and backpacking. Likes: To be with friends, to listen to music, and racing my bike. Dislikes: People who chew and hard rock. Greatest accomplishments: Getting along with my parents and getting better grades. Future plans: Getting a full time job, night courses at MPC and going to a State college.

JUNIORS

Involvement, Spirit = The Class of '86

What are the ingredients for an exciting year? Teriffic class officers and and a supportive class. The class of '86 had both. Why did the Junior class get so involved? When asked this question, Junior class president Darcy Hatton said, "Because it's fun, and we have a really big group so we can get motivated pretty easily. School would be boring without the class of '86."

Among other officers were Vice President Kelly Lind, Secretary Andrew Evans, and Treasurer Anne Bellecci. Also serving on student council were Girls Athletic Commissioner Clementa Gustafson and Rally Commissioner Trevor Winston. The Junior class made history by having one of their own elected to rally commissioner by A.S.B. This shows the abilities of the 84-85 Junior class. Imagine what it will be like when the Juniors become Seniors . . .

1. Junior class officers were: Treasurer: Anne Bellecci, President: Darcy Hatton, secretary: Andrew Evans, and Vice President: Kelly Lind

Santa Syndrome

"Yes Darcy, there is a Santa Claus!" Out of all the juniors polled about whether or not there is a Santa Claus, Junior Class President Darcy Hatton was the only one who disagreed. Bah humbug! Christmas wouldn't be the same without him. But why is this red- faced, chubby cheeked, jello bellied man so appealing? "Because he's so fat and round and cute you can't help but believe in him," said Cindy Licauta.

The tradition of Santa can sometimes be called childish, but who cares! Juniors felt that Santa gave them something to believe in. "What do you think about Santa Claus? "I believe he's an earthly spirit. He's a tradition and Christmas just wouldn't be Christmas without him." said Marcie Thorngate. When we think of Santa we think of getting and receiving presents, but Santa stands for a lot more. The Spirit of Santa Claus also means togetherness and sharing. So you see its not so bad to believe in Santa Claus.

"What a junior!"

What is a typical junior? There are many characteristics juniors have that make them unique.

Junior Guy

* Brown baggin it (Last nights leftover liverwurst.)
* Rolled up sleeves (Makes him look more buffed.)
* Velcro Converse (Hasn't taken shoelace tying 101 yet.)
* Always has "what" look on his face.
* Keeps all 12 locker keys in his pocket and pretends they are car keys.
* Wishes he were a senior.

* Jennifer Leonard- "I hope its a year full of fun with my friends. I'm sure there will be a lot of fun and a little sadness at the end when we all graduate."

* Linda Poe- "I just want to have fun, make varsity field hockey, and show the underclassmen how great the class of '86 is."

* Paul Prange- "Most of all I hope to graduate but besides that I want to go to D.C. with Close-Up again and think up some new and erotic Senior Pranks."

* Sal Alkire- "I want to graduate but most of all to make more money and have less expenses."

* Jeniffer Delaflor- "Hopefully I'll pass all my classes and graduate. Hopefully . . ."

* Stephanie Preble and Colleen McBarron- "We want to have more class spirit, spend time with our friends, and make the year worth while."

Juniors Jet Through '85

The "I'll never make it" feeling lurks in the minds of most juniors and sometimes it even comes true, but more often it doesn't. The 84-85 Junior class made the best of being in second. They showed that being a Junior isn't all that bad, but those anticipations of being a senior still remained. "I think being a senior has to be a great feeling. It must be good to know that there is not much time left in school, but at the same time making the time you have left the best." said junior Toni Selby.

To many, their junior year took forever. Being in the senior classes shadow can make it even worse. Somehow, though, the junior class made it through with style, not letting the seniors or anyone get in their way.

Christmas Spirit

Merry Christmas! Happy New Year! This was the attitude and spirit of kids running up and down the English Hall Thursday, December 20, during the Christmas door decorating. While almost every class participated in this class to class competition, there were some who just stood around and directed. Others, like Clementa Gustafson took charge and controlled the doors outcome. Mr. Lundy's 2nd period C.P. English class wasn't too interested in their own door, but Clementa Gustafson looked like she wanted a prize. Christmas door decorating was just one of the pre-Christmas activities designed to get Monterey High Students in the Christmas spirit. It was traditionally a lot of fun and a very successful event. This year was no exception.

"Brains." This is the nickname often given to these seven Juniors. Why? Because they were selected by their C.P. English teachers as being top achievers in their class. They're the ones who are always studying and getting good grades. But are they only academically inclined? Lynn Burke, Clementa Gustafson, Susan Lewis, and Kelly Lind are all outstanding athletes, as well. Not only are these students at the top of their class, but they are the kids most looked up to for their leadership and spirit. Congratulations to this outstanding bunch!

Best Friends

Bleacher Creatures? No. Stair Bears? Yes! Ever wondered who this group of people are? They can always be found on the stairs in front of the mall. Ever try to shove them out of your way? They don't bite. They're just best friends sharing all the good times at High School.

Everyone on campus has their favorite place to hang out at break or lunch: picnic tables, benches, the tree etc., but this bunch seems to enjoy being in people's way, and dawdling in their very own unique spot. It's not real comfy but it's theirs, and they love it!

Have you Got That Spirit.

J-U-N-I-O-R-S! The class of '86 had spirit. They won first place in the Homecoming Float Parade. They also claim to have won all the pep rallies. Maybe one tribute to the factor of this rowdy group is that they were led by six Cheer/Spirit Leaders. There were more Junior Spirit/Cheer-Leaders on the squads this year than any other class.

This particular group took a lot of pride in their school. They could always be found by the John Patrick Memorial; eating and gossipping. Good Luck to the classes of '87 and '88 to try and overpower this spirited class.

SOPHOMORES

Sophomores Plan Ahead

The school year of 84-85 proved to be a challenging and interesting experience for the Sophomore class. Many fundraisers and other such activities were planned to help finance next year's prom. Class Treasurer Jeff Williams stated, "We spent a large portion of the year planning for next year. We want to make next year's prom and class the best we possibly can." The rest of the officers, President Janel Hatton, Vice-President Brandon Bowen, and Secretary Jonathan Cook were equally excited. Janel Hatton said, "We made a substantial amount of money and progress, but I felt that we could have accomplished a lot more if we had had more support from the rest of the class."

Vice-president: Brandon Bowen, President: Janel Hatton, Secretary: Jonathan Cook, and Treasurer: Jeff Williams.

Farewell

1. Mrs. Albert, one of the departing teachers, was very happy to serve the students at M.H.S.
2. Mrs. McGair was very happy to have met so many wonderful students.

There were two staff members who left us this year. They were Bronte McGaire, an exchange teacher from Australia, and Joanne Albert, who went to teach at another school.

When asked what she would miss most about leaving M.H.S., Mrs. McGaire replied, "Students chewing gum in class, strange times, and friendly faculty and students." Mrs. McGair said she enjoyed her twelve months here very much.

One returning teacher was Mrs. Whitcomb who had been teaching in Australia in December. She had traded places with Mrs. McGaire for the 1983-1984 year.

Mrs. Albert commented, "I'm going to miss the students and helping them find alternative careers." She also said she will miss being friends with the many good students at M.H.S. Mrs. Albert had taught at Monterey High for ten years. The first four years were spent helping with vocational classes. After that she was in charge of the career center helping students find out which career would suit them best. She left us at Monterey because she felt in life there is time for changes and December was time for that change for her. Mrs. Albert will now be helping at Montessori School with her daughter.

Opinions: 7 Periods?

What do you think of the proposed seven period school day?

Ted Wasson: "The day would be too long, and you wouldn't have enough time in one period."

Ray Franks: "You shouldn't have to suffer through through 7 periods a day. Six is enough!!"

Nancy Williams: "People have jobs and other things to do at home. Having seven classes is asking too much of a person."

Kathy Cutino: "You wait all your life to get in high school so you can get out early. Once you get there, they make the days longer. Keep them short, Please!"

Carol Pornaras: "It wouldn't be fair to the students or the teachers if they lengthen the day, and the district would have to spend more money on salaries anyways."

Mike Clifford: "I don't really care if the amount of classes are changed. I can adjust either way."

Tony Selby: "I feel six classes are enough because with seven classes we would just cut classes more."

Danny Knoemelel: "I know a 7 period day would definitely be a bad mistake. Six periods a day is enough of a headache as it is."

Geena Hermoso: "I could adjust to the new schedule. It would be better to have 7 classes, just so long the district would shorten the class time."

Home Sweet Home

The library was one of the hottest places on campus this year. A wide variety of students congregated to the library each day to study and meet with friends. Many took advantage of the resources that the library offered. One could always expect to find people in the career center or reading one of the many magazines and newspapers that the library displayed. Traditionally not one of the most exciting places to hang-out, the library served as a second home to many during the school year.

What Would YOU Change?

Well, then there was the not-so-glowing side of M.H.S. There were some things we would have liked to change in the school. Sophomores voiced such opinions as:

Chris Mosqueda: "The weight room needs to be larger."

Keryn Thornander: "There is too much trash around here."

Jonathan Cook: "The school needs more spirit and more noontime activities."

Chris Bourke: "The smoking area should be ~~limited."~~ eliminated."

Amy Waggoner: "There are too many locker break-ins . . . especially in the Science Building."

Attendance Policy: An Effective Incentive?

Attendance Policy: An Effective Incentive?

Seven unexcused absenses result in an "F" in that class. To some people this new attendance policy offered incentive to fill those empty seats. To others, the system meant unnecessary restriction. Here is what a few sophomores had to say about the issue:

Brandon Bowen: "It's reasonable but a little too hard of a punishment on the student."

Sheila Walton: "It's reasonable . . . the student is either there or not there. It would be good if the student could be informed of the excused absences by the teacher."

Stewart Smoot: "Yes, it is practical."

Lisa Donaldson: "I don't know, I don't cut."

Marnie La Noue: "I feel that it will keep 'one time' cutters from cutting, but those students who are frequent cutters might decide to not come to school at all."

Attendance policy attempted to banish the "invisible student" from the class room.

No Spare Time

The class of "87" felt they didn't get their the sophomores should have used their time to share of spare time. Henry Bolden felt that the the fullest extent and not wasted it. One of overload of homework took up a big part of his many shy young ladies who helped make up free time at home. On the other hand, there the class of "87", Jocelyn Francis, was were those that felt homework is what im- quoted as saying, "My spare time is my pri-proved the mind, and therefore should have vate thing." What ever your spare time con-been given even more frequently. The teachers sisted of, sophomores used it to the full extent that taught sophomore classes probably felt of their abilities.

Twenty-One or Under?

What do you think of the legal drinking age? Do you feel it should be changed? Why or why not?

Nancy Williams-"I'm satisfied with the legal drinking age because most teenagers are immature and drinking for the wrong reasons."

Trish Godfrey-"I think it should be eighteen as it is in Hawaii. If the U.S. considers it adult at eighteen why shouldn't we go to bars and buy liquor?"

Kathy Cutino-"I think the legal drinking age is fine as it is. The only problem is some bars don't check for ID. They just let the teenagers in so they can make extra money from the liquor the kids buy, which is wrong."

Jim Saldubehere-"I don't think there should be a limit. In France, I could drink whatever I wanted. It is up to the parents and kids."

Natasha Maria Gomes-"I think the legal drinking age is too old, but for most people it has to be that old. No, it shouldn't be changed because most people are not mature enough."

Geena Hermosa-"I think the legal drinking age should stay at 18. If you're old enough to vote and get drafted, why shouldn't you be allowed to drink?"

Danny Keendel-"I'm perfectly satisfied with the legal drinking age."

Natalie Ushakoff-"I think the legal drinking age is just fine. I don't think they should change it because there is already a high number of deaths that are caused by teenage drunk drivers who are under age."

John Bisson-"I think it should be changed because if you are old enough to join the army you should be old enough to drink."

Raymond Franks-"I think the drinking age should be 18. If you can get married and get drafted you should be able to drink."

Carol Parnaras-"I think the drinking age should be 19 because I think people that age take an adulthood responsibility because when you're 18 you've received many liberties, and finally calm down at 19."

Steve,

it's been fun having you in Zack's class. It's been laughs talking about Toni. At least we survived this class. Have a great summer and hang in there. Good luck in golf and life.

Hey Steve,

You and Vince did a good job of dogging John and Tony, keep it up. Next year do your reading and homework. Good job golfing too, I never knew MHS even had a golf team. Oh well, we've survived another year, have a fun summer and git a tan!

Yours until Twisted Sister untwists,

FRESHMEN

The Freshman class, represented by President Jessica Davison, Secretary Heather Wade, Vice President, Cynthia Sanders, and Treasurer Kate Lind, was a succesful class this year. These four class officers were very productive in that they raised much money with all the activities they put on. This money should insure an exciting Sophomore, Junior, and Senior year for this class of 1988.

This same group of enthustiastic students had no problems with providing much spirit at rallies, games and during Homecoming they put together a second place float. With a record like this the class of 1988 has a lot to be proud of.

The Typical Freshman

"348 English hall. This is my locker. Who put a lock on it?"

"Go to the Principal's office and tell them."

"Ya, then I can ask him to make those Seniors stop bugging me at lunch time"

"Let's run to the office."

"Last one there is a rotten egg."

A scene from the Brady Bunch? Writing from a Dick and Jane Book? No, actually it's a way students in the ninth grade speak, "Freshman Talk" It's a way pupils in their first year of High School ranging from thirteen to fourteen years of age talk. What can one do? Wait until they graduate from their Freshman year and turn into Sophomores; a class with a little more class. What else does turning into a Sophomore relieve? The students gain weight in order to weigh more than ninety pounds, they grow in order to be taller than five-foot-two, and lastly they learn respect; for the upperclassman of course. So all one needs to do when viewing a "Typical Freshman" is be patient. They always improve after the dreaded ninth grade!

Buses! Bikes!

Wanna hear a joke? How does a freshman get from place to place? He walks! Yes, freshmen walk, run, ride bikes, or take the bus. To juniors and seniors this is the biggest joke they've heard in years. Asking a senior to take the bus or walk home is like telling a senior he won't graduate. All freshmen must understand that everybody at one time or another was unable to drive and had to use the "ankle express."

With a little patience and hope, almost every freshman will have his or her driver' license at the age of sixteen. Hey freshmen, your time will come!

Experience

"Hey, who's number 16? He sure is good, it looks like he's been playing for years.' Have you ever thought, "Hey this guy could be the next Joe Montana or Dwight Clark?" Well, if you have, here's how they might have started.

It all begins in the freshmen year. The inexperienced player from the middle school becomes the new, fresh product for a coach to mold. Why in just three short years, the freshman who was once playing frosh football wins the Golden Helmet Award for his great contribution to the Varsity Football team. Then he goes on to college and the Heisman Trophy and then the NFL, where Super Bowl XXIII awaits in the wings.

Here at MHS the girl's sports program achieves success just as well as the boys. Even though there are no women in the NFL now, who knows, maybe for Super Bowl XXIII the MVP will be a woman.

Frosh Fail

PE was a class that everyone should get a good grade in, but believe it or not, a lot of freshmen didn't pass this simple class. Joan Walthour, athletic director at MHS, believes freshmen did poorly because they didn't realize how important it was to pass PE early in their years at MHS. There were many seniors who had two or three classes of PE because they goofed off in their freshmen and sophomore years. The last year in high school should be fun, and it shouldn't be spent taking two or three classes of PE just to graduate. A few words to the wise: Don't fail PE, '88 will be here before you know it.

Hanging Out

Freshmen - where do you go between classes, during break or lunch? The Seniors had their Senior Table and Juniors and Sophomores had their hangouts, but where did Freshmen go? Hanging out with friends and having fun was a major part of high school life. Being too young to have a driver's license limited most of them to places on campus. Last minute cramming for tests, extra help on homework and computers were reason for some Freshmen to go to the library whenever they could. Sports in the gym entertained some at lunch. Satisfying hungry stomachs, others hung out at the cafeteria or snack bar. A few Freshmen complained that there were no places to go, while some made their own hangouts like "the Wall" behind the library building. Most did not stay in one special place and instead, they walked around campus enjoying everything it had to offer.

Junior High vs. MHS

Moving from Junior High School to High School is a big change for many. The vastness and the population density can be overwhelming at first, but if you adjust well, it can also be very exciting. Whether of not ninth graders should be in junior high or high school has been a controversial subject for the past 3 years. Some ninth graders preferred the status of being the oldest students at the Junior High Schools like Martin Luther King or Walter Colton to being "low-man on the totem pole" at MHS. Others liked being at MHS because of the various activities such as football games, dances and rallies and the greater freedom they received. We polled 60 Freshmen to see where they would rather be. These were the results:

Junior High	vs.	MHS
16%		84%

Apparently, our ninth graders preferred being at MHS.

Frank Anthony: 1910-1985

Frank Anthony was a very special man who will be missed by the many friends and students whose lives he enriched.

During his many years with MPUSD, Mr. Anthony was also a counselor and confidant to students and staff alike. All who knew him found that Mr. Anthony had a great love of life. "He was sensitive to others, but he always spoke his mind," stated a fellow employee, Jim Mitchell.

Since his retirement in 1977, Mr. Anthony had been active in the Foster Grandparent program. At MHS, students sought advice and wisdom from this gracious man who had experience a long and full life. A former student felt that "Frank Anthony touched a lot of lives. I never knew my grandparents, but I had always hoped they would be like him."

Monterey High

Hi.

I don't know you, but S T.A. for you in Tennis. But, now, S know you know. S thought that you were a Senior, but you just told me that you're a sophomore. S wondered why your brother drove to school. Now S know.

S was surprised to see that you had such a funny sense of humor! Neat guy.

Glad S know ya —

Sheila
Randazzo

Steve,

Boy was it fun having second period with you. I would suggest that you work harder in school and keep your grades up, it's important. Remember, it's a jungle out there, and they'll tear you up, so be careful, and be somebody. This advice has been brought to you by Michael Penn, courtesy of the Future Prophets of America, Inc.

P.S. thanks for the Cokes and Poptarts

Steve (foreman of Pel-Pak Vacation land)

Mt. Penn has truth to what he says, but don't take it seriously. As I once said to II "Have as much fun in life as long as it won't alter future offspring", then he went on to talk about how the only way the Pel-Pak people survive is to reproduce and radially before the evil Penns eat them. But that is unimportant to you because you were the foreman for Vacation land not Great Oakland. "thanks for the food. And carry on the Pel-Pak tradition it is worth keeping!

David Dyer

DEAR STEVE

hows it goin. it was a blast no my pleasure to watch you ~~[illegible]~~ Bogey on a birdie putt. the last time we went golfing. its been a blast. capping on tony and john but I hope I see you golfing at DEL Monte Just remember "When you get old and living in a shack teach your kids to pee in a crack HA HA. JUST KIDDING."

see ya on the green this time will look forward to seeing you make a quadruple bogey putt

See ya

Vince ("8" 2012)
